Robert LeFevre has been a fountainhead of the West coast libertarian movement almost since its inception. He is best known for his extensive career in both broadcasting and journalism, and his Freedom School that was founded in 1956 near Colorado Springs. Later, after the school was moved to Santa Ana, California, LeFevre renamed the school Rampart College, and continued as its president until 1973.

LeFevre is the author of This Bread is Mine, The Nature of Man and His Government, The Philosophy of Ownership and Lift Her Up, Tenderly. In recent years, two booklets have been published by Society for Libertarian Life from two of LeFevre's speeches at Santa Ana College (Good Government: Hope or Illusion? and Does Government Protection Protect?).

Robert LeFevre

For decades Robert LeFevre's courses took a complete week to complete. However, Rampart Institute found it easier to conduct smaller 3-day evening seminars and 3-day retreat seminars. Naturally, these courses are condensed, but they are still some of the most comprehensive presentations on individual liberty, the nature of man and the free market found today.

Beginning in 1983, 3-day retreat seminars conducted by Rampart Institute will be announced. These retreats will be located in the local Southern California mountains. Please write for more details or look for the seminar listings in New Rampart.
