

RAMPART INSTITUTE

A Non-Profit, Tax-Deductible, Educational Organization

Student and General Educational Catalog

Volume 3/October 1, 1982 edition

RAMPART INSTITUTE

Rampart Institute was founded in 1980 at the Future of Freedom Conference. Rampart Institute is tax-deductible (501)(c)(3). Below are cassette tapes, books, posters, buttons, stickers and other material provided by the Institute to increase the awareness of individual liberty and free market principles. Your support of Rampart Institute is vital to the success of the Institute and its main project which is to establish a large "Freedom Library" consisting mostly of LeFevre's former library of 10,000 books.

CASSETTE TAPES

The cassette tapes below by Robert LeFevre were professionally recorded in a studio in the 1970's by Rampart College (defunct, 1975). Each side is 28 minutes in length with two different speeches on each tape.
[Prices$6.95]
Special Offer: $6.25 each for five or more tapes bought, $6.00 each for 10 or more tapes bought.

R101-02. Communication About Freedom (Shows how to transfer ideas--communicate, not argue, with people about liberty) and Philosophy and Rational Thought (Argues for a philosophy that relates to the nature of things [reality] under objective and subjective examination.).

R103-04. How Do You Know For Sure (Centers on how we know what we know, ideas, philosophy and the nature of reality), and Emotions and Motivation (Emotions and motivation of mankind; why he does what he does).

R105-06. Sacrifice and Molestation (Argues that human will is man's property, that imposed sacrifice is molestation) and Obligation and Responsibility (Illustrates that responsibility is the opposite of obligation; that a person is the owner of his action--responsible).

R107-08. A Definition Of Freedom (Gives a history of the origins of the word freedom, starting in 2000 b.c. with Ura Kagina) and Human Rights (Shows that property and human rights are identical, that all rights are related to ownership).

R109-10. Property and Ownership (Argues that property is an extension of owner's life, that mankind is both consumer and producer) Property Classifications (Insight into why human life is dependent on property, and the various types of property conditions).

R111-112. Ownership of Property (Shows the four types of property ownership arrangements, and who owns a piece of property in reality) and Collective Ownership (Insight into who really owns public property).

R113-14. Conflicts in Ownership (Who owns what, in issues of slavery, improperly marked boundaries, double claims and collective ownership) and How We Become Owners (Insight into three ways to win privileges and control over property).

R115-16. Value: What And How (Why human beings are value-centered; how values are determined subjectively; and discussion of Marx's labor/wage theories) and Production of Need (How we produce what we need with tools, human energy and rational thought).

R117-18. The Nature of Wealth (Argues that money is not wealth, only the medium of exchange) and Wealth And Politics (Focuses on political wealth; why it undermines the economy and causes inflation).

R119-20. What Is Money--Part I (Illustrates the development and history of money; and defines commodity, credit and fiat money) and What Is Money--Part II (Centers on fiat money that government creates, along with its history in the United States).

R121-22. What Is Banking? (History of banking, how it works and its misuse in today's economy) and Gold And Banking (Insight into U.S. government's banking policy/system, and gold policies nationally and internationally; and why the U.S. abandoned the gold standard in 1933).

R123-24. Fears Of A Free Market (Why people generally fear an unregulated marketplace; fear of high prices and low wages) and The Fear Of High Prices (What causes prices to rise; why price is not set by cost; and a study of supply and demand theory).

R125-26. The Fear Of Monopoly--Part I (Shows that under a totally free market system, monopolies, if they exist at all, will be harmless) and The Fear Of Monopoly--Part II (Insight into why the free market moves toward competition, instead of monopoly; and studies various types of competition).

R127-28. The Industrial Revolution--Part I (Studies the facts that caused the Industrial Revolution; and examines the social conditions of pre-Industrial Revolution) and The Industrial Revolution--Part II (Greater detail of the benefits arising from increased wealth from industrialization in 1760-1830 England).

R129-30. The Industrial Revolution--Part III (Reviews some of the charges made against so-called heartless factory owners) and The Industrial Revolution--Part IV (Reviews the two Sadler Reports, the renowned one and the forgotten one).

R131-32. The Age Of The Robber Barons (Reviews the charges of monopoly and the effect of the wealthy on the economy) and The Great Depression (Insight into the role of the Federal Reserve System and intervention under Hoover and Roosevelt).

R133-34. How We Serve Each Other (Insight into who makes the highest profit in a free market, what makes production, distribution and selling possible, and whether large populations per se stimulate production) and Economic Revolutions (Reasons for the dramatic advances brought about by the agrarian and industrial revolutions; and that a third revolution is in the offing).

R135-36. The Nature Of Government (Strips away the mythology surrounding the structure of political government) and The Source Of Government Power (Why governments have been viewed as representative of the divine and social whole; and why force and fraud are implicit in representative government).

R137-38. The Beginning Of American Independence (Why British colonies expanded in the New World, while Spanish growth was static; and compares the impetus and inspiration for the American and French Revolutions) and The American Revolution (Why the American Revolution was unique in man's history; also, why its inspirational documents had no legal status).

R139-40. The Declaration Of Independence (Significant passages are analyzed, meanings are clarified; and why "property" was omitted from the list of rights) and The Communist Manifesto (Why the Manifesto calls for overthrowing social conditions; and why Marx sought to do away with private ownership of the tools of production and distribution).

R141-42. Ethics In Collision (How should the good be determined; who makes the choice?) and Origins Of Socialist Thought (Why Plato sought the perfect society; Zeno, et al.; superior men. Why emphasis today is on feeling rather than on thinking).

R143-44. The Anarchists (History and philosophy of prominent socialist-anarchist in Europe and the individualist-anarchists in America) and The Communal Socialists (Insight into early American experiments in communal living from Jamestown to present-day religious communes).

R145-46. The Communists (Studies the objectives and theories of Karl Marx; where he got his ideas; and where the first Communist government came to power in 1910) and The Fascists And Fabians (Centers on what is fascism, and goes into the history and methods of the Fabians in England).

R147-48. Today's Revolution (Argues that most revolutions change rulers, not rulership; that the American Revolution was against authority per se, and unwilling to set up another rulership) and Getting It all Together (Nature of the marketplace in psychological terms, and reasons why people are interdependent on each other to live).

R149-50. Background To The Constitution (Reasons and history of why most colonists opposed the passage of the U.S. Constitution; why Jefferson was tricked by the federalists into leaving the 13 colonies) and The Constitution Revisited (Shows that the U.S. Constitution gives unlimited power to the federal government; also, quote from Patrick Henry, who opposed the Constitution).

R151-52. What Others Have Said About Liberty (quotes from leading authors and leaders) and What Is The Right Amount Of Government (Case made for voluntary society without coercion).

R153-54. Education--Part I (Why education is important for freeing society) and Education--Part II.

R155-56. Poverty (Why poverty is not a lack of money; and how poverty is created) and The First Secretary Of Agriculture (Biblical story explaining the nature of farm subsidies and government).

"PAST IS PROLOGUE" SERIES BY LEFEVRE

(30 minute Cassette tapes--Prices: 4:95 per tape, 2/$8.50)

R201-02. The Biblical Prophet: He Told It Like It Is and The Public Good.

R203-04. Flexible Glass: All That Glitters Is Not Gold and Lady Godiva: Uncovering The Facts About Tax Reform.

R205-06. Aunt Jemima: The Redcoats Are Coming and In Gods We Trust: Social Security Among The Ancient Incas.

Freedom School Cassette Tapes (1958-68)

R220. Leonard Read, Government & Inflation. In this 1959 speech, Read discusses inflation and hyper-inflation found in many countries, predicting higher inflation for the U.S. in the near future. Some time is spent on 19th Century England and the Corn Laws (60 minutes).

R221. Leonard Read, The History of FEE. Read details the history of the Foundation for Economic Education (FEE), which is basically a history of Read himself beginning in the late 1920's with a top job with the U.S. Chamber of Commerce (90 minutes).

R222. Leonard Read, Creative Energy & Violence. Read discusses why any obstruction of creative energy inflicts penalties onto the general populace; and that there are two classes of people—people of love and people of violence (60 minutes).

R223. Leonard Read, Collective Defense. After two short workshop speeches by Freedom School students who attack government-operated national defense, Read takes his turn and defends collective/government defense on the grounds that a formal organization of society needs state-run national defense. Recorded in the early 1960's, Read's counter-arguments show the beginning stages of the early libertarian movement; and how the libertarian philosophy differs from conservatism (60 minutes).

R224. Frank Chodorov, The Myth of Government. Chodorov, one of the early libertarian writers, shows that government is not of the people, but rather, a government of the bureaucrats, by the bureaucrats and for the bureaucrats (60 minutes).

R225. Frank Chodorov, History of Income Taxes. Historical view of taxes on income imposed by government, especially in the United States, starting in the late 18th century. Chodorov illustrates the unconstitutional and immoral nature of income taxes (60 minutes).

- R1011. Robert LeFevre, Abstain From Beans, four page commentary on the reasons for abstaining from voting [Price$5.00].
- R1012. Robert LeFevre, Good Government: Hope or Illusion?, 32 pp., paperback. One of the best definitions of government, why checks and balances of government do not work, and why there is no such thing as "limited government". LeFevre argues for "Law and Order," but not the unlawful and chaotic situation that government usual creates. Delightful, humorous and entertaining college lecture turned into a booklet [Price$2.50 each, 2/$3.95, 5/$8.50].
- R1013. R. A. Pruitt, A Rift Between Friends in The War of Ideas, 15 pp., small booklet. Edited by LeFevre, Pruitt's letter shows keenly the personal nature of liberty in the struggle for the minds of men and women [Price$1.30].

R1014. Rampart Journal, Quarterly publication of Rampart College. (Limited) editions available - Spring 1965, Winter 1967, Fall 1967, Winter 1968, Summer 1968. [Price $7.00 each].

R1015. Rose Wilder Lane, The Discovery of Freedom: Man's Struggle Against Authority, 262 pp., paperback. Roger Lea MacBride calls it "a revolutionary work" in the introduction. Written in 1943, Lane put forth ideas of freedom that have not been seen since Jefferson's Declaration of Independence. In the foreword, LeFevre says that Lane's book "was a milestone in my own development" [Price .. $8.95].

R1016. Robert Love, How To Start Your Own School, 168 pp., paperback. A do-it-yourself book for parents who look for another approach to state-operated education [Price $2.95].

R1017. LeFevre's Journal, quarterly publication written by Robert LeFevre dating from Winter 1973 (vol. 1, no. 1) to Autumn 1978 (vol. 5, no. 4), (vol 1., no. 2 is sold out, xerox copy available) [Price $2.00 per edition or complete set of 20 for $30.00].

R1018. Robert LeFevre

Does Government Protection Protect?

"Government has never really said that they are going to protect us," contends LeFevre. From this 2½ hour college lecture, LeFevre defines protection as "being safe" and shows that government provides citizens with laws of retaliation, not laws of protection. LeFevre also produces evidence from the annual FBI reports which show that police are successful only 20 percent of the time in catching a criminal, and only 3 percent successful in putting criminals behind prison bars.

[Price $2.95 each, 2/$4.95, 4/$9.25, 42 pp., paperback, 1979].

R1019. Anthony Hargis, Law vs. Freedom, 109 pp., paperback. Discusses practical methods to eventually establish a free market outside of the reach of government, especially that of the underground economy [Price $3.50].

R1020. Anthony Hargis, In Gold I Trust, 190 pp., paperback. Explains how to establish a gold economy within local neighborhood or social group; and how a hard money economy even on a local level will increase and protect purchasing power of every person [Price $5.50].

R1021. Anthony Hargis, Capital Preservation with Gold Accounting, 90 pp., paperback. Introduces the concept of gold accounting, why gold should be measured in units of mass (grams), and provides the theoretical base for the first monetary unit in all history [Price $3.50].

R1022. Sy Leon (with Diane Hunter), None Of The Above, 234 pp., paperback. Introduces the philosophy of non-voting, giving practical and moral reasons to ignore the election/voting process. One of the most complete books on the subject [Price $5.50].

R1023. Frank Chodorov, Flight To Russia, (1959) small booklet (to be reprinted in 1981). Chodorov introduces the idea that if America continues to go socialistic, Russia, since it is retreating from socialism, might become more free market oriented and therefore a country in which to immigrate.

[Price $1.95]

R1024. Robert LeFevre, Fundamentals of Liberty, Volume 1 is scheduled to be printed in late 1983. Material is taken from LeFevre's home study courses since 1960. It is one of the most complete and comprehensive presentations on the philosophy of individualism and the nature of man.

R1025. Robert LeFevre, Fundamentals of Liberty, Volume 2 scheduled to be printed a year after publication of volume 1.

R1026. J. Neil Schulman, Alongside Night, 181 pp., hardback. Science fiction novel centered in the rubble of New York City in 1999 as subways, buses and all public services have ceased to run, shops cannot operate without hired armed guards and sidewalks throng with thieves and gangs. [Price $6.95].

R1027. Robert LeFevre, Autarchy versus Anarchy, 20 pages, small booklet that was taken from the winter '65 issue of "Rampart Journal of Individualist Thought." LeFevre defines anarchism and its various factions within the movement, and argues for Autarchy (self-rule) which he sees as more consistent with freedom than anarchism $2.50

R1028. Spencer Heath, Society And Its Services. Small 12-page booklet on why Henry George ideas did not prevail $1.75.

R1029. Spencer Heath, The Inspiration of Beauty. Small 12-page booklet on human emergence into the divine by creative artistry $1.75

FILMS

R1201. Property: A Basis for Morality, presented by Robert LeFevre. This film explores the concept of property ownership as a basic human right, while determining ways to recognize the rightful ownership of property, which, in return, helps to minimize areas of human conflict over disputes of ownership (30 minutes, sound/color) $350.00 (Rental $35)

R1202. The Meanings of Responsibility and Obligation, presented by Robert LeFevre. The meaning of responsibility and obligation are brought into sharp focus, dispelling the social utilitarian haze that clouds these basic ethical terms (15 minutes, sound/color) $225.00 (Rental $20)

R1203. Karl Hess: Toward Liberty, the 1980 Academy Award winner—documentary short subject. The film documents Hess's emergence from conservatism of the early 1960's to the radicalism and later decentralism in the 1970-80's. Author of Dear America and the award winning Playboy article "Death of Politics" in 1969, Hess was once a member of the SDS while still serving as Sen. Barry Goldwater's speechwriter (26 minute, 16mm, color) (Rental only $35)

R1319. Crime and Protection
R1320. National Defense

R226. Frank Chodorov, U.S. Constitution and The Law. Chodorov argues that the U.S. Constitution is outmoded, that Congress does not make legislative laws, and that the executive branch of government does not administer laws (90 minutes).

R227. Frank Chodorov, The New Deal. Discussion of the hard effects of Roosevelt's New Deal upon the liberty movement; and insight into those few individuals who broke with New Deal ideals (circa 1944) and fought for a new movement based on individualism (60 minutes).

R228. Oscar Cooley, The Spirit of Enterprise. Recorded in 1962, Cooley warns of the approaching "Welfare Mentality" that destroys individual initiative and the willingness to improve oneself (60 minutes).

R229. Percy Greaves, Problems of Ignorance. Recorded in the late 1950's, Greaves outlines why the American people are moving away from fundamental principles that founded America. He explores several myths related to economics, and explains why all exchange/trade is fair in a free society (60 minutes).

R230. Robert LeFevre, Individual vs. the State. A strong, dramatic speech given at the "Left/Right Festival of Mind Liberation" in 1970 at USC. In front of a mixed crowd of Vietnam-era leftists, moderate conservatives and radical libertarians, LeFevre calls for an end to violence by both the U.S. government and student militants. Arguing that the state is only a concept, an idea, LeFevre warns that most revolutions resemble a turning wheel; that is, rulership revolves, changes, but nothing else. Calling for the end of coercion, LeFevre says that violence is government, and that only intelligence will defeat the forces of statecraft (60 minutes).

R231. Robert LeFevre vs. Phillip Nicolaides, The Abortion Debate. Taped at Cal State Univ., Fullerton in July/1981, this debate contrasts the pro and cons of abortion by two libertarians (90 minutes).

R232. Leonard Liggio/Murray Rothbard, Libertarian Conference, Part I. Recorded at the famous Oct. 10-12, 1969 New York City Libertarian Conference. Liggio honors the career of Frank Chodorov; Rothbard tackles the economics of property rights (90 minutes). Note: Part I thru III are sometimes difficult to hear due to poor recording.

R233. Walther Block, Murray Rothbard, Joe Peden and Dale Ginder, Libertarian Conference, Part II. Topics in order: Is Milton Friedman a Libertarian?; Law and Order in a Free Market; Law and Order in Stateless Societies; and Imperialism in the Far East (90 minutes).

R234. Dale Ginder, Walter Grindler/Others, Libertarian Conference, Part III. Topics in order: Imperialism in the Far East (continued); The Origins of the Cold War in Eastern Europe (90 minutes).

R235. Ludwig von Mises, Science & Human Action, Part I. Prof. von Mises discusses philosophy and the meaning of logic, knowledge and human action. Note: Due to von Mises' heavy German accent, it is sometimes difficult to understand him (90 minutes).

R236. Ludwig von Mises, Science & Human Action, Part II. Continuation from part I. Other cassette tapes of von Mises (1950-60's) are available.

MORE CASSETTE TAPES

[PRICE: $6.95 each, $6.25 each for five or more tapes ordered].

R240. John Holt, Teach Your Own, Part I. One of America's best-known educators outside of the government school system. A libertarian, Holt centers his talk on his new book Teach Your Own, which advocates home-schooling, and shows how legally to take a child out of the government school system (60 minutes).

R241. John Holt, Teach Your Own, Part 2. Continues from the first tape, with additional topics. Holt mentions his letters from worried parents about their awful experience with state-run schools, truancy laws, administrators and regulations (60 minutes).

R242. John Holt, The Family. Holt discusses why the family does not exist for many people and what to do about this new situation. Later, Holt turns to the subject of children themselves, and their role in today's society (60 minutes).

R260. Robert LeFevre, Is the U.S. Constitution Moral-Part 1 & 2. LeFevre gives a history of the "Do-Nothing" Kings (Stuarts), background on the English traditions of liberty, and the period in the colonies before the American Revolution (two 60-minute tapes).....$11.50

R261. Robert LeFevre, Is the U.S. Constitution Moral-Part 3 & 4. LeFevre continues with the history of the American Revolution and why most Americans were opposed to the United States Constitution after the war with England (two 90-minute tapes).....$14.00

R262. Robert LeFevre, Is the U.S. Constitution Moral-Part 5 & 6. Final conclusions on why the centralizing power of the U.S. Constitution will eventually lead to tyranny (two 90-minute tapes).....$14.00

REPRINTS (from "Rampart Individualist")

R1500. Kenneth R. Gregg, Jr., The Three Enlightenments, 32 pp., paperback. This pamphlet introduces the reader to the intellectual and social history of libertarianism through the "three enlightenments;" the growth of rationalism (1st enlightenment), the Republican Revolutions (the principle of consent and voluntarism) and the Third Enlightenment (of economics). Reprinted from Rampart Individualist. [Price$3.50].

R1501. Spencer H. MacCallum, Drafting a Constitution for ORBIS, 18 pp., paperback. MacCallum creates a model contract agreement for private proprietary communities in space. He shows how community services can be provided in an orbiting space colony without government. A must for all who are interested in space exploration/exploitation. Reprinted from Rampart Individualist [Price$2.95].

R1502. Herbert Spencer, The Proper Sphere of Government, 41 pp., paperback. This is Herbert Spencer's first political tract, originally printed in 1842-3 in the Non-conformist; this is the first reprint of Spencer's radical essay since 1843. A must for all students of libertarian history. Includes an introduction by George H. Smith. Reprinted from Rampart Individualist [Price$4.95].
